

Plant early to enjoy
Fall Color

Here at the nursery we see it every year... the colors start to change and everybody rushes in to get their favorite fall color tree. The problem is that when you pick your tree it has to be pulled out, loaded up, driven home, unloaded, and finally planted. That much movement on a tree that is already changing colors can result in losing a lot of leaves. Also, you won't have much time (if any) to enjoy the beautiful colors if you wait until the leaves are already changing to pick your tree. We recommend getting a head start on your fall color planting. If you start early then you'll have a better selection of fall color trees to choose from (before the rush) and you'll get to actually enjoy the color at your house this year, rather than getting home with a bare tree or having to wait until next year for the colors to return. Although you've probably heard that you need to wait until fall to plant, it really is fine to plant in summer. Just make sure that you give your new trees plenty of water and they will be ready for a fall show!

Make your yard POP! with fall color

Liquidambar

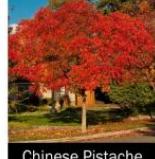

Quaking Aspen

Red Oak

Ginkgo

Chinese Pistache

Sugar Maple

Japanese Maple

Redbud

Red Maple